

Talking about CRIS...

- First EU (IST) Critical Infrastructure Project
 - Outcomes and lessons learnt

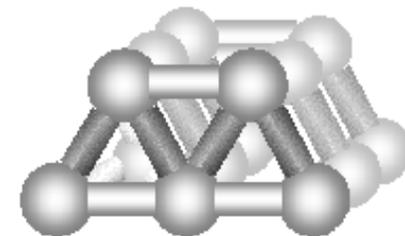

- CRIS: International Institute for Research on Critical Infrastructures

An international Forum

www.cris-inst.com

- CRIS welcomes active participation of research colleagues and interested companies

The CRIS Institute

- Network for research on critical infrastructures, with presence in Europe, North America and Asia
- Constituted in January 2001
- Scientific aim: focus on mitigation of threats against
 - Power networks
 - Computer networks
 - Communication networks

Aims and Instruments

- High capacity network of excellence through
 - Bilateral cooperation
 - Building consortia
 - Dissemination and education
 - Defining common objectives and long term views
- Current focus:
 - increase the weight of activities in computer and communication networks
 - Increase the number active members and shareholders in US and Asia

Conferences & Workshops

Biannual conferences:

- CRIS'2002 (Beijing)
- CRIS'2004 (Grenoble)
- CRIS'2006 (Washington)

Workshops:

- Power blackouts 2004 (Lund)
- Critical Information Infrastructures 2005 (Linköping)
- Power networks 2006 (Magdeburg)

Members assembly

- Belgium
- Brazil
- Canada
- Columbia
- Cyprus
- Finland
- France
- Germany
- Hong Kong
- Hungary
- Italy
- Netherlands
- P.R. of China
- Slovakia
- Sweden
- Switzerland
- United Kingdom
- USA

Shareholders

- Universities:
 - Virginia Tech (US)
 - University of Hong Kong (HK)
 - Institute National Polytechnic de Grenoble (FR)
 - Linköping University (SE)
 - Wisconsin University at Madison (US)
- Industrial members:
 - Enersearch (ABB, ECN, EON, ENECO, IBERDROLA, EDP, SYDKRAFT)
 - EDF
 - Beijing Sifang Automation
 - Radius Sweden AB

Next conference

- Autumn 2008
- Linköping or Luxembourg
- Is IFIP-WG interested in
 - Getting involved as PC members?
 - Supporting (non-financial)?
 - Disseminating results from projects?
- Fancy (an extra) winter meeting for the group in Sweden?

Contact me if interested!
simin@ida.liu.se